Forest of Imagination 2024

The Holburne Museum and Gardens will be the venue for the 2024 Forest of Imagination, marking our 11th year as a contemporary arts event in Bath.

The Bath Royal Literary and Scientific Institution (BRLSI) is partnering with FOI 2024 as part of the Institution's 200th anniversary year. BRLSI will also organise a major 2-day free family event in central Bath that will directly connect with FOI at the Holburne Museum which will allow BRLSI to build awareness and enhance a relationship between Bath residents and BRSLI that will continue throughout its bicentenary year and beyond.

Forest of Imagination is seeking sponsorship to help us reach our fundraising goal.

Forest of Imagination is a partnership between Grant Associates, House of Imagination, Feilden Clegg Bradley Studios and Bath Spa University working alongside the creative, cultural and educational community of Bath. Each year we re-imagine a familiar space to highlight the importance of nature and imagination in all of our lives.

Forest of Imagination 2023 attracted 11,000 visitors including local families, 20 schools and early years settings including 1,500 children and over 100 educators, with 100,000+ engaged online. For more info' visit forestofimagination.org.uk.

Trees are critically important. They store carbon pollution. They reduce erosion. One deciduous tree can capture 500 to 750 gallons of stormwater in a year. A mature evergreen can hold up to 4,000 gallons a year, and a mature oak tree can capture and release 40,000 gallons a year through evaporation, and reducing the ambient temperature of cities in summer.

Trees are carbon removal engines, and essential in the planet's ability to temper global warming. Trees are also essential to our wellbeing: research has shown that phytoncides, released by plants and trees, strengthen our immune, hormonal, circulatory and nervous systems when we breathe them in. Trees also improve our quality of life offering relief from the symptoms of anxiety and depression. There is a lot we still don't know about trees and their innate wisdom. One of our Forest of Imagination 2024 installations entitled Listen to the Trees Whispering their Wisdom (by Piers Taylor, Invisible Studio alongside architecture students) speaks of the need to listen to trees.

Other artists and installations include: Andrew Amondson's Living Tree; Matthew Leece's B LAB; Ortiga (Catalonia) presents An-Ki, co-presented with The Egg Theatre, an immersive theatrical experience where you will discover a story about the connection with the earth; The Necessary Space and Platô Cultural bring us The Climate Spa, designed by Feilden Clegg Bradley Studios; We the Forest by Forestry England and Cultureshock; Bramble Wagon by Patchlarks; Mother Nature's Supper Club; Rabbit Holes Collective; Earth Dances by Denise Rowe; Drawn From Nature with artist Pippa Pixley; Clare Day will be supporting new artists; Soil Dreaming by Hannah McDowall; Young Green Creators; Bath Community Kitchen; Creatures of the Anthropocene by Holly Le Var and Morgane Shaban; Empath Machine by Martyn Ware, Tim Wheater and Cherub Sanson.

(Please note some inclusions are subject to change).

The location invites us to do something special at the threshold and will:

- inspire us to bring alive the stories of Bath's landscape and architecture
- entice us to be bold in our ambitions and the artists that we work with
- enable people to take part in high quality cultural and arts experiences, in a unique heritage setting
- create innovative collisions between business, world class architects, research, designers, creativity, culture, accessible technology, digital immersion and community activism
- bring museums, schools, families and communities together to engage young people with their connection to the natural world, climate change, imagination, agency, self-image, identity and community
- showcase and make more visible the activist and community placed based work of local charities and the third sector including Bath Welcomes Refugees, We are The People & Designability
- inspire action across the city in response to the climate and biodiversity emergencies and to find new ways to create inspiring landscapes and habitats that enrich the lives of everyone.

SPONSORSHIP

We are requesting anything you feel able to financially contribute to make this year even more wonderful. This year, more than ever, and as public funding dwindles, we need the support of our local businesses. We feel it is vital to create shared creative experiences where people can come together, have fun, explore, think, and be inspired.

Our 'Biodiversity Ring' captures the Holburne Museum in a vibrant circle of biodiversity stories and creative interventions. Its physical presence reinforces the green setting of the Museum and takes advantage of the diverse landscapes and habitats that wrap around the core buildings and lead out into Sydney gardens and the wider city landscapes.

This 'ring of life' is created from multiple interventions. Some large, some small but all inspiring little steps to make it easier to address the climate and ecological emergencies.

The 'ring of life' outward face presents a powerful display of existing and potential biodiversity in the city.

Its inward face explores the influence of nature and natural forms and phenomena on human creativity, art and thinking which links neatly with the concurrent exhibitions at the Holburne Museum at the time which includes an Exhibition of Henry Moore's smaller sculptures.

The circle will be defined by a series of markers on the ground. These will be enhanced by a circle of soundscapes, a circle of light and a circle of small interventions made by artists, school children, community groups and visitors to the site. In addition, the circle will link a sequence of larger interventions that are more interactive such as the Climate Spa and the Living Tree and the Ortiga theatre company.

Participants will contribute ideas, share ideas, visit ideas, eat ideas and make ideas come to life. This cross pollination will generate new forms and new relationships.
